A top-down view of a diverse selection of fresh produce. In the upper left, there are several mushrooms, including a large white one and a smaller purple one. A green bell pepper is prominent in the center. To the right, there are yellow and purple flowers, possibly pansies. In the lower left, a green pea pod is filled with bright green peas. Other items include a red bell pepper, a yellow bell pepper, and various smaller mushrooms and herbs scattered throughout. The background is a light, neutral color, making the colors of the produce stand out.

Our Growers

Hawthorne Gardens

Anthony Thorne and his small team grow a wide range of soft fruit and vegetables from Hawthorn Gardens in the Village of Stockleigh Pomeroy located in the mid Devon district. They also breed pedigree beef shorthorn cattle on a small scale to sell for breeding.

Ant has been a soft fruit and vegetable grower for over 35 years and was awarded the John Neason Progressive Farming Award by the Devon County Agricultural Association in 2013. Ant endeavours to project a positive role model by working alongside his small team and they like collaborating with WestCountry because we have an ethos of sourcing the finest local produce.
